NEWS

The week

● BlackRock chief executive Larry Fink has warned that the UK's decision to leave the EU would trigger a recession for the British economy. The head of the world's largest asset manager said it was too early to tell what effect Brexit would have on BlackRock's business but said that clients around the world were "pausing" investment decisions because of the political and economic uncertainty. BlackRock announced a fall in revenues and profits in its second-quarter results. Around 30 per cent of BlackRock's London employees are from Europe and their future was a topic of concern at town hall meetings during Mr Fink's visit to the UK last week.

● Brookfield, the Canadian asset manager, has just closed the world's biggest infrastructure fund after raising $14bn from a group of 120 institutional investors. The Canadian asset manager, which partnered with Qatar's sovereign wealth fund last year to buy the Canary Wharf estate in London, has committed $4bn of its own money into the new fund, which has already identified suitable investments in US hydroelectric facilities, Brazilian electricity projects, a Colombian power generation company and toll roads in Peru.

● Calpers, the largest US public pension plan, has appointed Marcie Frost as its new chief executive, making her one of the most powerful people in the investment industry. Ms Frost, previously head of the Washington state retirement system, will start her new role in October. She replaces Anne Stausboll, who retired in June.

● Aberdeen Asset Management reopened its property funds for trading after liquidity issues caused the Scottish investment group to halt withdrawals after the Brexit vote. Aberdeen cut the value of its real estate assets by 26 per cent after independent property valuers advised it that a significant reduction in prices would be needed if it was forced to sell commercial property assets within seven days.

● Blackstone, the US private equity manager, has held talks about acquiring at least £135m of logistics and industrial assets from Aberdeen, according to Estates Gazette, the property magazine. Blackstone is also understood to be considering buying other property assets from Aberdeen, which would help it meet redemption requests from clients.

● Ashmore, the UK-listed asset manager, has suffered two years of outflows as investors pulled billions from its funds, but the tide now looks to be turning thanks to a strong rally in emerging markets. Investors continued to withdraw money from the emerging market fixed income specialist during its fourth quarter to the end of June, but the outflows fell to their lowest levels in a year.

Defensive When Needed

One of the characteristics of traditional defensive strategies such as Minimum or Low Volatility is that they are concentrated in low volatility or low beta stocks. While over a very long period these defensive strategies outperform cap-weighted indices, over the short term, in a bull market, they could seriously underperform.

Researchers from EDHEC-Risk Institute have therefore developed a new multi-factor dynamic defensive strategy approach. Instead of being solely exposed to the low volatility factor, the Scientific Beta Multi-Beta Multi-Strategy Relative Volatility (90%) index reduces portfolio volatility by allocating dynamically between smart factor indices based on market volatility. The defensive profile of the strategy is ramped up when high market volatility makes it necessary. This new approach to defensive smart beta not only produces excess returns but significantly reduces volatility over the long term compared with cap-weighted benchmarks, while at the same time outperforming in bull markets.

For more information on this new form of defensive strategy, please contact Mélanie Ruiz on +33 493 187 851 or by e-mail at melanie.ruiz@scientificbeta.com.
